A slight fire occurred in the batching house at Smith & Dove's mill shortly after work had begun on Wednesday morning which was ably handled by the mill fire department. The exact origin of the fire cannot be determined but it is thought that it originated by some foreign substance which was in the tow. The fire spread through the light substance rapidly and it seemed as though it would reach large proportions but after a short fight it was extinguished. The automatic sprinklers, with which the entire mill is equipped, worked perfectly and did much to avert a serious loss.

The members of the Men's club of the Free church were pleasantly entertained at their meeting Tuesday by Edw. T. Brewster, who gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "The evidences of intelligence in the higher animals." Mr. Brewster prefaced his talk with a discussion of the arguments of Dr. W. J. Long and Mr. Burroughs in regard to the intelligence of animals. He followed this with proofs of the most convincing kind that intelligence in the animals was of a very high order and often their power of discernment seemed stronger than man's. He was most attentively followed by his listeners and at the close he answered many questions in a satisfactory manner. A social hour followed and refreshments were served. At the next meeting it is expected that Ex-Conv. W. S. Knox will deliver an address on Washington.

MARSDEN HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY TODAY

James Marsden was brought down from the local jail Tuesday where he has been held on the charge of assault with intent to kill upon Sadie Gilgoley, whom he married under the name of Matthews.

Attorney John F. S. Mahoney appeared for the prisoner. City Marshal Sheehan outlined the case to the court, and placed Mary Gilgoley, a sister of the woman, who was shot, upon the stand as the first witness.

The witness said that her name was Mary Gilgoley and a sister of the woman Marsden is charged with shooting. The witness said she was 14 years old. She was with her sister on Sunday evening, March 25th at Callahan's boarding house at 189 South Broadway at half past eight.

She said that Marsden called for her sister that evening and asked her to go home with him and that her sister told him that she would be ready in a minute. They walked down South Broadway towards the river and at St. Patrick's church met Mr. Gilgoley, the witness's father, and the four continued until they reached Canal street. The witness said that at this point Marsden wanted to go down Canal street, but Sadie told him that he wasn't guilty he wouldn't be afraid to walk down Essex street, referring to some money which had been stolen and for which he had been suspected.

Marsden went down Canal street, the other three taking Essex street, continuing to Garden and Union streets where they were met by Marsden who came out from beside a tree.

The quartet then continued to Garden and Middle streets the witness said, and during this time the father of the girls said to Marsden: "Jim, I don't think you are wanted here." Then the witness said she saw her sister step down off the sidewalk and immediately Marsden followed her and catching hold of the belt of her coat fired one shot, which missed her sister. Sadie stepped down onto the street and Marsden caught her by the coat and fired a shot directly behind her ear.

Cross-examined by Attorney J. P. S. Mahoney she adhered to her former testimony and made an excellent witness, sustaining the fire of the attorney and holding to her original story.

Michael Gilgoley, father of the woman shot, was the next witness and told substantially the same story up to the time of the shooting. Cross-examined by the attorney for the defence, he made the direct statement, and reiterated that he shot fired by Marsden was discharged while both the prisoner and Sadie were in an upright position. Dr. W. M. Wilkins testified to the condition of the wounded woman when she was brought to the hospital, explaining to the court that he thought the bullet took a direction towards the roof of the skull and falling back after the impact with the interior side of the skull, fell back into the brain. The bullet, the doctor testified, was extracted, and a blood clot removed. He said that the woman had gradually regained her consciousness since the operation, and was now able to sit up a little but so far is unable to talk.

In answer to the question as to whether the woman's brain was affected in that portion controlling her speech, and that it appears probable that the woman will have to be taught to speak just as in childhood.

Attorney Mahoney questioned Dr. Wilkins closely as to the course which the bullet is said to have taken in an endeavor to gain an admission from the medical man that the course claimed to have been taken by the bullet would not have been possible had the shot been fired while the couple were in a standing position. To these questions the medical man said he would hardly care to give an opinion.

This closed the case for the defence, and the court found probable cause and held the prisoner for the grand jury, which sits the second day of May next, fixing bail at $10,000.

MAINE

Where the Purest Brand of Spring Tonic and Big Catches of Trout and Land-locked Salmon reward the Visitor.

In the Spring the angler's fancy sends him toward the woods of Maine. No Shakespeare didn't write this; nor our old friend Isaac Walton; but we all know it just the same, and are sure that the fellow who is busy preparing his tackle and fixing up his rod is thinking of a sudden journey north. No life can compare with that of the woodsman. "Away from the street's rude bustle and tokens of mart and stage," the man in the wide open air enjoys the ease of a monarch, and much as we may seem to rollick in the luxuries of civilization there is that in every man's nature which makes him occasionally and involuntarily turn back toward the primitive, where he can listen to the songs and behold the tions of nature in the skies, trees, the birds, the air, the brooks and in everything which he sees or touches. Maine is the promised land, the wilderness of the moose, the caribou, the bear and the deer, and the proud possessor of sixteen hundred ponds and lakes, and myriads of rivers, where trout and salmon, perch and pickerel, bass and lingcod and almost every variety of the finny species abounds.

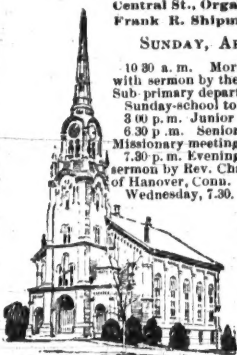

In Maine the angler can seek a prolific fishing ground in almost and direction; but lest the new comer may find it hard to choose from the hundreds of lakes and streams, we will mention a few sections where good sport and results await the visitor. Sebago lake, a few miles west of Portland, the home of the salmon, the famous Rangeley lakes and Dead River region offer alluring sport: in the waters of Umbagog, Moosehookmeguntic, Farmachene and Cuscutung, also the Penobscot and Arrostook rivers, Moosehead Lake, the largest body of trout water in this world. About three tons of trout is the annual catch at Moosehead. In the Moosehead region are Chesuncook, Caribou, Lobster, Chamberlain, Cuscutung, Onawa, Lovon, Quin, Ragged and Brasqua lakes. In the Arrostook region are Penobscot, Fish, Allegash and St. John rivers, and the Schoodic, Sebosc, Penadumcook, Matamoras and a score of other lakes and ponds. Washington county has twenty-seven hundred square miles of fish and game territory. In the St. Croix and Dennys river, and at Grand lake, Schoodic, Mopang and Tunk are some dandy "Square Tails." However, Square by no means claims a monopoly on the fish and game sport, for New Hampshire has a reputation in the same line, while in Vermont Champlain and her sister lakes prove a rendezvous for sportsmen, and Brunswick and Nova Scotia are fishing grounds which the sportsman would characterize as the "real thing."

There is just one way to reach the hunting regions—and that is via the Boston & Maine Railroad and connecting lines. The Boston & Maine Passenger Department has just issued a beautiful booklet, something brand new, with a delightfully colored cover, illustrated and containing sixty-one pages of interesting descriptive reading on the fish and game territory of northern New England and the Provinces. This is the fisherman's guide, don't forget; this book will tell you in detail just where to go, what to do, etc. It will be mailed upon receipt of a two-cent stamp by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, to any address in the world.

OPENING NIGHT OF BATTERY CARNIVAL.

The opening night of the sixth annual Carnival of Nations of Battery C passed off very auspiciously. The state army where the affair is being held was thronged with friends of the Battery boys.

The drill shed and battery quarters were very attractively decorated with flags and bunting. The grand march beginning at 9 o'clock was led by Louis Burchard as Uncle Sam and Miss Emma Barnard as the Goddess of Liberty. Together they made a hit. Following them, America in the lead, came the different nations represented on the carnival. The sight was a very pretty one indeed and the young ladies in the native attire of the different countries made the scene a picturesque one. Those participating in the grand march formed in the battery quarters and marched from there onto the drill shed floor. As the different nations appeared, they were greeted with great applause.

Music was furnished by Berry's orchestra. Dancing followed the march and continued until midnight. The carnival will continue tonight, Friday night, and Saturday night. From indications last night it may be predicted that the affair will be a great success, much credit to the committee which had the arrangements in charge.

The young ladies representing the different nations in national costume were the following:
America—Miss Emma Barnard, Phoebe Maloney, Margaret Burke, Mary Murphy, Annie Barrie, Nellie Kane, Sadie McHugh, Annie O'Brien and Mary Gilmore.
France—Misses Ida LaCasse, Gertrude Welthe and Margaret Bellisle.
England—Misses Ida Mackie, Annie

FOREIGN

Revolutionary Leaders in America.

Leaders of the Russian revolutionary movement are now in this country to begin an active campaign for financial support and popular sympathy. Maxim Gorky, who is noted as the poet and novelist of the revolution, arrived at New York last week, with his wife, and on stepping ashore he was greeted with cheers from a thousand or more Russian Socialists and American sympathizers. Among those to greet him were Ivan No-rodny, an equally famous leader of the revolution, who has been here about four weeks, and Tchaykovsky, "the intellectual," who recently came from his exile in Switzerland. When asked what was the best word Gorky said: "No tears. Hope sure and certain." He said that during the voyage he had spent twelve hours a day writing. As to the drama, nothing good could come of it, and the revolutionists were not interested in the policy of the Liberals. The grim purpose of the masses now was to get armed. He said the people hated and distrusted the priesthood. When the revolution comes the government would take the form of a federation of nationalities. Premier Witte was a scoundrel. Gorky was banished from Russia after his imprisonment last year.

Narodny, however, is the organizing force in the movement, and in a conversation reported for the Saturday Evening Post he tells the story of "underground Russia," leading up to the present purpose, to kindle a comprehensive, armed revolution. He declares that a majority of the officers and men of the Russian army are now in sympathy and says that at a given signal all the leaders will return to join the great rebellion, which is likely to start in Finland. Other leaders are at work all over Europe. He says that a member of the general staff in the Russian army is actively managing the affair.

Witte's Ultimatum to Czar.

The overwhelming victory of the Liberals, or Constitutional Democrats, in all the larger cities of Russia in the elections for the duma was said to have caused the second and final resignation of Premier Witte unless Minister of the Interior Durnovo should retire. The premier demands that the czar grant a written constitution and abandon all idea of keeping the national parliament in autocratic submission. On April 8 the electoral colleges, 128 out of 51 provinces, chose 178 members to the duma, and not a single reactionary candidate was chosen. A surprising feature is that in almost every instance the candidates chosen by the peasants were educated Progressives. The result indicates that the opposition will control the national parliament by a decisive majority.

Russian Governor Killed.

While M. Sleptzoff, governor of the province of Tver, was going to the elections he was killed by the explosion of a bomb. He was much hated on account of his severity toward the revolutionists. The assassin, who was a young man, was arrested.

Russian Loan Arranged.

The signatures to the Moroccan agreement were hardly dry when it was stated positively at St. Petersburg that a loan of $250,000,000 had been arranged with Paris capitalists. The French people were said to feel grateful to Russia for the services rendered at Algiers. Later it was reported that the loan would amount to $400,000,000, the balance being taken by New York, Amsterdam, London and St. Petersburg banks. This amount will barely suffice to meet the short term bonds and pay the czar's most pressing debts.

President Castro Resigns.

Word from Caracas was to the effect that President Castro of Venezuela had resigned temporarily in favor of Vice President Gomez in order to secure needed rest. A new cabinet will take charge of the dispute with France.

Peace Conference Deferred.

Yielding to the suggestion of the United States, the Russian government has arranged to have The Hague conference convened later than July.

Japan Opens Manchuria.

Through its diplomats the Japanese government now has announced that after May 1 citizens and vessels of foreign countries would be permitted to enter the Manchurian ports of Antung, Hsien and Tatungkao. Dalny will be opened in the near future.

LEGAL-CRIMINAL

Greene and Gaynor Guilty.

Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaynor, the men who jumped bail and for years fought extradition in Canada on the charge of extensive frauds against the government in connection with Savannah harbor contracts, were convicted by a jury at that place last week after a trial lasting two months. They were sentenced to four years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $575,749.99 each, the amount of their embezzlement. The case was to be appealed.

Coal Road Officials Quizzed.

The interstate commerce commission began its investigation at Philadelphia into the operation of the coal railroads. Despite the manifest hostility of the railroad officials summoned as witnesses it was shown that through the statistical bureaus of three railway systems agreements exist governing the transportation and distribution of soft coal and fixing the division of coal traffic. These arrangements have been operative for ten years, although in violation of the existing laws. Also it was admitted that by means of private car companies coal could be served at stated times, while dealers not owning cars could wait guarantee the date on which their coal will be delivered. It appeared that the Pennsylvania had refused to handle cars unless the owner had at least 500 cars, involving an outlay of $500,000. Officials of many railroads were shown to have personal interests in the coal mining companies. The Pennsylvania is the leader of the combine.

Live Stock Exchange a Trust.

The Kansas supreme court has decided that the Live Stock Exchange of Kansas City is a trust and that all mortgages made through members of that exchange are invalid. The decision affects millions of dollars' worth of cattle paper. The fact that in all of the mortgages a commission of at least 50 cents a head is required was thought sufficient to prove the existence of a trust. President Robinson of the exchange says that the exchange is no more a trust than are the labor unions, as the former charge a certain price for their labor.

Chicago Court Clerk Sentenced.

J. A. Llan, clerk of the circuit court of Cook county, Ill., after pleading guilty to the charge of conspiracy to defraud through the manipulation of jurors' checks and having agreed to restore the money, received an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary.

Another McCurdy Suit.

The Mutual Life has filed another suit against R. A. McCurdy and his son, charging conspiracy to defraud the company and seeking to recover $1,200,841 as the amount to which Robert H. McCurdy had been overpaid.

Ohio Grocers' Trust Put Out.

The circuit court of Franklin county, O., has rendered a decision against the Wholesale Grocers' association and taking away its charter on the ground that it was formed to regulate prices and restrain trade.

LEGISLATIVE

Bailey on Court Limitation.

Almost the entire membership of the senate in their seats, scores of representatives standing in the rear of the chamber and galleries packed with spectators listened for over three hours to an address by Senator Bailey of Texas, who is recognized as the leader of the minority, the purpose of which was to demonstrate that congress has the power to limit the subjects of consideration before the federal courts. It was generally regarded as the greatest speech of the Texan's career. Both Spooner and Knox had made the assertion that there was a difference between judicial power and jurisdiction, but this Bailey denied and quoted numerous precedents in support of his position. He held that the review by the courts of the interstate commerce commission's orders fixing railroad rates would be hastened rather than retarded if the order were not suspended by injunction.

The speech had the unusual success of immediately affecting votes on the pending rate bill. Just before its conclusion Senator Hale of Maine confessed himself in agreement with Bailey as to the prohibition of injunction proceedings against rate orders. Bailey said that he did not believe that review by the courts could be denied under the constitution. Senator Aldrich then expressed his willingness to have the whole question brought to a vote at an early date.

POLITICAL

To Concentrate Labor Vote.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has issued from the Washington headquarters a circular letter defining the political policy of the federation. All members are urged to vote in a body regardless of party, "that we may elect men from our own ranks to make new laws and administer them" and to secure an impartial judiciary. He wants them to stand by their friends and to deliver a "stinging rebuke to men or parties who are either indifferent, negligent or hostile."

At the same time the Central Labor union, at Washington, proposes the formation of a labor legislative committee composed of representatives from each of the 559 Central Labor unions in the country. It will have the duty of looking after labor legislation in congress.

Boom For Bryan and Folk.

The names of Bryan and Folk have been linked as the choice of the Audrain county (Mo.) Democratic convention for the next national Democratic ticket. The Democratic club of New York, in aiming to reorganize itself as the National Democratic club, has decided to support Bryan with the view to combating the radicals of the Hearst type.

This Government a "Judiciary."

In his latest open letter, addressed to Senator Lodge, Frederick Upham Adams takes the ground that the judiciary of the country has usurped the powers belonging to congress and the president under the constitution. Consequently he characterizes the country as a "judiciary." He asks the senator if he knows of any supreme court or federal judge who was not formerly a corporation lawyer. Professor Adams takes the ground that the constitution gives to no court the right to pass on the validity of a law passed by congress and signed by the president.

New York Rapid Transit Law.

The modified Elsborg rapid transit bill has passed both branches of the New York legislature. It opens future subways to competition by separating the contracts for construction, equipment and operation, gives the city power to construct and operate railroads if necessary to prevent monopoly, takes away the power to grant perpetual franchises, requires future pipe galleries to be open to competition and abolishes the self-perpetuating feature of the rapid transit commission.

Organizing a Labor Party.

As the first step toward a new political party, to be known as the National Progressive alliance, representatives of sixty-three labor and reform organizations at Chicago have started a local nucleus. The main objects are government ownership of railroads and telegraphs and municipal ownership of public utilities, with initiative and referendum in legislation.

Davis' Election Challenged.

United States Senator Berry of Arkansas has decided to ask an investigation of the vote by which Governor Jeff Davis was nominated to the senate on the ground that many of the Davis ballots were fraudulent. The complete returns showed that Davis had a majority of from 10,000 to 12,000. From the start Governor Davis appears to have had the poorer classes of his party with him.

Chairman of Congressional Committee.

The Republican congressional committee, composed of a member or senator from each state, chosen at the recent caucus of senate and house Republicans, has elected Representative James S. Sherman of New York to be chairman, the place held by Babcock of Wisconsin for the past eleven years. It is expected that the chairman will open headquarters at New York. Tawney of Minnesota was chosen vice chairman, Louis Slager of New Jersey secretary and McKinley of Illinois treasurer.

James S. Sherman.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Conditions of Working Women.

This was the subject of a paper read before the Academy of Political and Social Science at Philadelphia, by Mrs. Rose Pastor Phelps Stokes. She argued that much of the hardship of wage working women was due to the fact that they are obliged to contribute to the support of families who live in idleness and luxury, and she thought that it was the universal recognition of this fact among the working people which led to the strikes and industrial disturbances and to that class hatred and craving for justice which underlie the Socialistic programme. She pointed to the progress of the welfare work among many industries as a mutual acknowledgment by the employers that their employees are entitled to recreations and social advantages which their wages do not provide.

A School of Character Building.

The generally recognized importance of prenatal influence on the lives of human beings gives exceptional interest to the announced plans of a "school of character building" to be conducted by Mrs. Florence F. Wieland on an eight acre place at Kensseler Heights, N. Y. Mrs. Wieland is the mother of five healthy children, and she claims to have found from her own experience a true and unfailing method of banishing the pains of childbirth through the direction of mental forces. The school will be devoted especially to the education of expectant mothers during the whole period of pregnancy. Mrs. Wieland believes that the character of a human soul is largely determined and influenced by the mental attitude and preparation of the mother both before and after the time of conception. A home will also be made for a number of infant waifs, with a view to demonstrating what may be accomplished in the way of character building by the utmost individual freedom in a normal, healthy mental and physical environment. Mrs. Wieland has been able to take entire care of her own babies from the moment of birth and to continue her regular work without a day's interruption.

Rising votes of thanks were given to the Danvers society for its hospitality and to the officials of the union for their labors of the last year.

It was voted that conferences be arranged by different officers of the union and the national and archdiocesan unions and that they report back to the different societies for action.

A lady carrying a little dog got into an omnibus and wanted to know if every turning was Park Lane.

She began asking the question at Putney and repeated it at intervals all along the route until at last she was told, to the intense relief of everybody in the omnibus that Park Lane was really before her eyes.

But they were not to see the last of her even then. "Look," she said, in ecstatic tones, holding up the dog to the window, "that's where your mother was born!"—London Chronicle.

From the Youth's Companion.

It distressed Miss Willing to find how much the little girls in her Sunday class thought about dress and outward adorning. She lost no opportunity to tell them how slight was the importance of such things.

"The reason I didn't come last Sunday was because my coat wasn't finished," said small Mary Potter one day, when questioned as to her non-appearance the week before. "My old one had spots on it that wouldn't come off and a place where the buttons had been was torn through."

"But, Mary, dear," said the teacher, gently, "you know it's not the outside that really matters."

"Yes'm, I know," said little Mary, "but Miss Willing's mother had ripped the lining out, so there wasn't any inside to look at."

FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 1906.

April 19, 1776.

The mother's blood was like the child's, so talk ran high; and over seas an army came To cities hold, and near the land with flame.
Quick sprang our town to arms, and on the first Great day, the April day, when war cloud burst
At Lexington, and crimsoned Concord's plain With blood, left loom and plough, and tender grainTo reach the front. They did their share that day.And proved once more no price too high to pay For freedom's rights. No need to tell how drum
And life broke stillness of the vale, how hum
Of angry words, by night and day, grew loud:And everywhere from farm and shop, the crowdFlocked to the aged church in hopes to hear Where next a blow should fall; perhaps how near.Then marshalled quick the minute men who gazedToward Boston Bay, where hated warships layAnd each night e'er the sun went down, cried loud,"Tomorrow morn the word may come: 'Quick, crowd

You to the fight; and so God speed the night."

Then at their arms they waiting stood,
Through spring days long and bright.To hear at last 'neath summer skies,
The summons to the fight.

—From Mrs. Devens' Anniversary Poem.

Editorial Cinders.An announcement from the great banking house of Lee, Higginson & Co., in Boston, carries the very pleasing news that an Andover young man, Mr. David Shaw, has been promoted to a membership in the firm. The road is not short, and it calls for a pretty steady grind to cover it, but it does lead in many ways to success if the grind and the ability are united. Andover may quite properly rejoice that many among her own young men have achieved success in the larger business life, and this latest promotion for Mr.
Shaw places him as one of the leaders in that list. He has the heartiest congratulations of many friends.Golf is dragging a little in Andover, and it ought not so to do. It ought not to drag because there are so many reasons for it to boom. The Andover Golf club has an attractive course, a splendid organization, a convenient club house, and the nucleus of a good membership. But there should be more than a nucleus; there should be a long list of members, and there are scores of our good citizens who would be benefited by the advantages afforded by the club who could in return be of great assistance in maintaining what really is an important town institution.
Be a golfer! And even better, be a member of the Andover Golf club!Next Wednesday evening there will be a meeting of those who are interested in the new playstead. It will be held at the lower town hall, and everybody who has an interest in the project is earnestly urged to be present. There is nothing new to say about it and there is no new situation to suggest; it is the same old call for interest and support that the project has been making all along, only just a little more insistent.
YOU are wanted at that meeting.The ball of the Knights of Columbus was a splendid opener for that already live and energetic local organization.
The hall was beautifully decorated, the arrangements were carefully planned, and the large attendance made everybody acquainted with his neighbor in a way that couldn't help to afford a good time.The communication regarding the Western Union service in Andover is not set to any new tune. It is, unfortunately, a complaint that has too much foundation in fact to be ignored. The service is bad, and has been bad for a long time, and if those who are responsible for it insist upon ignoring conditions much longer, the people will "do things" themselves some day.Of course Andover cannot match in benevolence the great contributions that such cities as Boston will send to San Francisco, but she can do her share with the same spirit and heartiness.
The means to that end are provided in the call published elsewhere, and let us all remember that he who gives promptly gives a double portion.HELP SAN FRANCISCO*Subscriptions Will be Received at URER OF THE FUNDThe great disaster in California calls for the world's sympathy.

Andover's heart is quick to heed the call, and already steps have been taken to secure a local contribution to the succor and relief of the afflicted.A spontaneous movement has started, and such men as Mr. Tyer, Mr. Ripley, Mr. Flint and many others have promised substantial aid.
Cashier Kimball of the Andover Bank will serve as treasurer of all funds contributed, and the Townsman office will aid in every way possible. The call is pressing! Let Andover do her share and let the shares range from the "littles to the nickles!"THE EASTER CONCERTS*Sunday Schools Tell the Easter Tidings in Song and Story. The Programs.The Easter concerts in the local churches last Sunday evening were of the usual attractiveness, and the attendances were large. Although it had been raining hard almost all day, about four o'clock the clouds broke away and soon the sun was shining brightly, thus bringing to a fitting close a day which everyone had hoped would be beautiful as far as weather was concerned.
The Sunday school scholars turned out in full force at their respective churches and the interesting programs were gone through.Christ ChurchThe service at Christ church was devoted entirely to the children who occupied the front pews. The rector was assisted by Prof. E. H. Williams, Jr., who spoke interestingly to the children on the life and noble work of the great African missionary, David Livingstone, who, after a struggle to obtain an education, spent his life with the savage tribes of Africa helping them in a great many ways.The baptism of children was one of the interesting features of the service.
At the close Miss Caroline A. Abbot was presented with a collection of 1500 stamps and three volumes of stamp books in recognition of her long and faithful service as secretary of the Sunday school. The presentation was made by Prof. Williams.The collection of mite boxes was made, half the contents of which will go to a missionary in China and the other half to a missionary in Africa. The usual presentation of plants to the scholars was then made.Free Church.The usual Easter concert at the Free church was held at six o'clock on Sunday evening and the children of the Sunday school furnished all the program except two anthems which were sung by the choir. The primary department sang Easter hymns and recited appropriate verses after which the pastor, Mr.
Wilson, told a story of a seed which grew to make animals and people happy and afterward becoming a beautiful picture.
The lesson from the story was explained and the children were urged to mold their lives as the seed.Seeds were then distributed to the scholars and Mr. Wilson said that he hoped that all would take good care of the plants and bring them next Easter to decorate the church.

The program was as follows:

Prelude—Festival Fantasia. Tschirch

Hymn, "Welcome Blessed Easter." Tschirch

Recitation, "Easter Morning." Marion Fraser

Recitation, "In Breaking of the Day." Dorothy Moncur

Hymn, "Hosanna to the King." Dorothy Moncur

Baptist ChurchAn especially fine program was carried out at the Easter concert at the Baptist church on Sunday evening and there was a large attendance present to enjoy it. Superintendent Perley F.
Gilbert of the Sunday school had charge and was assisted by the pastor, Rev. Mr.
Lombard who made an address to the children. The program was as follows:

COMMUNICATIONS

The Western Union.

Editor of the Andover Townsman, Andover, Mass.Dear Sir:—I take occasion at this time to make an open protest against and criticism of the manner in which the citizens of the town are being inconveniened by what seems to be a mismanagement somewhere of the telegraph service, as it is being handed out to us by the Western Union Telegraph Company.
The writer is not constitutionally a kicker, but there is a limit even to sublime patience.The inefficiency of our service is being manifested continually, and in various ways, and I am by no means alone in my judgment of the condition of affairs, for I hear the same complaint from others.Whether the poor service is the result of general, or company, management, or because of the independence of its subordinates, is immaterial, for the inconvenience to the public at large is the same.Obviously this is an unfortunate state of affairs, for the company is without opposition, and we are forced to pocket our wrath and to patronize it in spite of its poor service.If this indifference, this lack of attention, and I would add this attentive independence on the part of the company's employees, is due to company rules, which I doubt, it is one thing, and there may be a certain amount of excuse for them, but if it is simply because they are mistaking the privilege of serving the public for an opportunity to bulldoze and irritate it, it is quite another, and steps should be taken, by the citizens of the town, that would lead to a better condition of affairs in this particular branch of public service.Yours truly, CITIZEN.

Mr. Editor:

Dear Sir:—I read with much interest your article in regard to the removal of the trees in front of the Pynchard High school.Some of us, who are old enough, have watched the growth of these trees from their infancy, to their old age, and they seem to many of us like old friends, with whom we are sorry to part.That is a natural feeling, yet I am fully aware that there is another view of the matter, which may appeal quite as strongly to an equal, and perhaps larger number of our citizens.You have in your article spoken of them principally in regard to their utility or inutility. There is another point which may be considered, and that is, their effect upon the entire school grounds between Morton and Chestnut streets. The new Park gives promise of becoming in the near future, one of the most attractive features of our town, and would be vastly improved by an extended and unobstructed view of the school buildings, and grounds beyond.These trees are at present a complete barrier to this view, and however beautiful they may have been in their earlier stage of existence, are now an excessive, almost a blot, upon the landscape.They have grown together in such a mass as to lose their distinctive beauty as trees, and present a very artificial and by no means artistic effect. Their removal will doubtless lead to a great improvement of the entire grounds, and hope the movement you have so ably started, will be generally approved and carried out.A Lover of Nature,

Obituary.

MRS. JANE (WARDEN) MACDONALD.

The sad death of Mrs. Jane (Warden) Macdonald, wife of John Macdonald, occurred at her home on Essex street, Abbott Village, on Sunday morning, about six o'clock. Death was due to an operation which the deceased had undergone but a few days before and from which her attending physician had great hopes of her recovery. She was gaining rapidly in strength but early on Sunday she was attacked by a sudden weakness and soon after passed away.

Mrs. Macdonald was born in Montrose, Scotland, but came to this country when a young woman. She was married to Mr. Macdonald nearly 25 years ago, the silver anniversary of their wedding to have been celebrated in July had she lived. She has made many friends during her residence in Andover who will miss her from their circle.

Mrs. Macdonald was a member of the Free church and also of the Helping Hand society of that church in which she was an active member.

The funeral was held from the home on Essex street on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock and the service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. F. A. Wilson. The house was filled with mourners who wished to pay their last respects to the deceased. Burial took place in the family lot in the South cemetery. The bearers were Alexander Lamont, Barnett Rogers, Alexander Dear, James Anderson, David Leslie and Hugh Kydd.

The deceased is survived by a husband, one daughter, Margaret, and three sons, James who works at Valpey's market, John Jr., a baker with Frank P. Higgins and Alfred who is employed at Smith & Dove's mill.

Four Score Years and Ten.

To live to the ripe old age of four score and ten years is not the good fortune of everybody but time has dealt very gently with one of our most respected townsmen who this week celebrated his ninetieth birthday by holding a reception to his friends. This man was Benjamin F. Wardwell of Summer street.

Mr. Wardwell has always been a resident of this town having been born here in 1816, educated in the public schools and graduated from Phillips Academy with the class of 1832 of which he is at present the second oldest living member, one older classmate living in England. At the alumni dinner at the Academy held two years ago he was the oldest graduate present and this honor was recognized by the alumni.

In his younger days, Mr. Wardwell was prominently identified with the affairs of the town and always upheld all things which were for the best interest of the community.

The reception was held on Tuesday and was attended by about 150 relatives and friends, coming from Wrentham, Lynn, Lowell, Southboro, Newport, R. I., Haverhill, Amesbury, Lawrence and Boston. There were four generations of the family in the gathering and the ages ranged from four months to Mr. Wardwell's age of 90 years. The relatives consisted of four daughters, one son, seven grand-children and two great grand-children. Among Mr. Wardwell's oldest friends who were present were M. C. Andrews, who is over 90 years of age, Henry M. Hayward and Timothy Abbott. He was well remembered with gifts of flowers and many other slight tokens, and the afternoon and evening was pleasantly spent by all who attended.

Mr. Wardwell is at present in perfect health but his hearing and sight are slightly impaired. He is still able to work and finds great pleasure in doing the chores about the house and is fond of walking.

Local Dogs Win Prizes.

At the fourth annual show of the Merrimack Kennel club which was held in the City hall, Lawrence, on Friday and Saturday of last week, many local dogs carried off ribbons. There were comparatively few dogs from town entered by their owners and the fact that nearly all that were entered secured prizes speaks well for the ability of the owners to raise blooded canines. The following is a list of the dogs and their owners: beagles, John Y. Guthrie's Spot first in the limit class and reserve in the winner's class; English setters, Henry Hilton's Beauty second in the local class; Airedales, Dan Hilton's Taps reserve in class 174 and third in classes 175 and 179; Knob Hill kennels Colone Victoria II, first in classes 183, 184, 186 and 187 and Mrs. Percival Dove's Claybrook Fashion second in classes 183, 184, 186 and 187.

Birth.

In Lawrence, April 18, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hay.

Deaths.

In New Bedford, April 5, Emily, wife of Albert B. Wiggin.

In Andover, Sunday April 9, Mrs. Jane Macdonald, wife of John Macdonald, 75 Essex street. Funeral Tuesday and interment in the South cemetery.

A MANAGER'S TROUBLES.

Play Given by Local Talent in Town Hall Monday Night a Great Success.

"A Manager's Troubles," a comedy in two acts, was presented before a large audience in the Town hall on Monday evening, by a company of local young men known as the Andover Dramatic Association. The organization has been recently formed and it is the intention of the members to give such a show at least once a season. The hearty manner in which they were received on their first appearance insures for them the support and favor of an appreciative public.

The play was an original one composed by Messrs. Charles Pearce and James Callum and was full of clever jokes and catchy songs. The topical songs were especially well rendered and brought out continued applause at every verse. The acting of the various characters showed that a good deal of work had been put in at rehearsals and that the interest had been keen for a successful presentation.

"A Manager's Troubles" is a play dealing with the life of a theatrical manager, J. Lynch, who has an office on Broadway, N. Y. He inserts an advertisement in the daily paper for actors for his "show." The following day he hires Jerry, a newsboy, to assist him in the office and to run errands. The boy keeps him in so much trouble all the time with his antics and disrespect for his employer that at many times he has a notion to discharge him. Pat, the janitor, also comes in for some of the boy's tricks and if his threats had been carried out the boy would have met a violent death.

Harry Madison, Lynch's double and a collector of debts, calls at the office of the latter to collect a bill but finds him out. The office boy however thinks that this man is his employer and does not eject him. He departs however and Lynch congratulates himself on his victory. Several such visits are made but without success. C. A. Chance, a book agent, makes life miserable for both Madison and Lynch for some time and he was followed by Elijah Peeler Pancake, Jr., who wished to sell a load of wood.

Lynch tires of the visits of Madison and decides that he must get rid of him for good. A sudden thought strikes him. He recalls the resemblance between him and Madison and decides to have him arrested. This was done successfully and Lynch moves to Brooklyn. The second act opens with a visit of Mr. E. P. Pancake to do New York but he becomes the victim of graft. The second scene shows the interior of the Brooklyn office with Lynch and Jerry in possession. Applicants for positions in the vaudeville show are tried out and engaged at a much lower figure than asked for. Lynch changes his name to Lynchfield and is discovered by Madison and is arrested.

David McCarthy as Jerry took his part in a very clever manner and kept the audience in a good humor during the entire performance. John Collins as the Irishman and janitor also acted cleverly, his dialect being perfect. The other characters were well taken especially those taken by Charles Pearce, Andrew Collins, James Callum and James Ryley. Ernest Pearson made a typical dupe.

The cast of characters was as follows:

The Other Rest. Company

After the performance a dance was enjoyed until one o'clock, the music being furnished by the Dramatic Association orchestra.

The entire success of the evening can be attributed to the tireless work of E. Rhodes Barton who has managed the affair and who had charge of the stage setting. It is the intention of the company to present an opera in the fall or early winter.

Choir Boys' Outing.

About 25 choir boys, under the leadership of Choirmaster John Bachelder, of Christ church, enjoyed an all day outing in the vicinity of Methuen, last Friday.

They left Andover on the 10.20 car, and on arriving at Stout's hill, they were taken into a large tower, near there, the ascent up the long winding staircase being thoroughly enjoyed by them.

At noon they ate their lunch in a neighboring wood, and after the dinner a baseball game was played between the Blues and the Reds, the former being victorious, by the score of 10 to 7, after a hotly contested game.

Ladies' Club Entertained.

The Ladies' Club at the Grange was entertained in the Grange Hall last evening by three members of the order, Corwin F. Palmer, B. Frank Smith and Joseph T. Lovejoy.

The festivities started with a fine supper to which about 30 sat down. This was followed by an entertainment consisting of musical selections by the Andover Ladies Orchestra, vocal solos by Miss Caroline J. Burt and readings by Joseph T. Lovejoy. Dancing was then enjoyed and the party broke up about 11 o'clock. A barge conveyed about 30 from the square.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mackintosh thank their neighbors and friends for the many tokens of love and expressions of sympathy extended to them during their recent bereavement.

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The First Annual Concert and Ball by the K. of C., No. 1078, Successful in Every Detail.

The first annual grand concert and ball under the auspices of Andover council No. 1078, Knights of Columbus, was held in the Town hall on Wednesday evening and it was one of the prettiest and most enjoyable gatherings that has been in the hall for a long time. About 250 couples were present, many coming from out of town. The ladies were all dressed in light gowns that blended well with the beautiful decorations.

The concert started at eight o'clock and consisted of songs, musical selections and a whistling solo. The latter was rendered by Miss Augusta Steele Cheeney and it was the first time that she has been heard in Andover. She made a lasting impression on her hearers being compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Teresa A. Mahoney and Miss Katherine White sang finely as did the Orpheus quartet, all being encored. Thomas' orchestra played two selections in the concert and also furnished music for the dancing.

Shortly after nine o'clock the grand march started with Grand Knight John H. McDonald and Miss Bessie Ganey leading; they were followed by Deputy Grand Knight Daniel Bogan and wife, Grand Knight Jonathan Hart of St. Mary's council, Lawrence and daughter, Grand Knight and Mrs. C. S. Roden of Reading and about 100 couples.

The dance was then started and 22 numbers were gone through. At intermission refreshments were served by Caterer T. E. Rhodes.

Without a doubt the hall was never more beautifully decorated than it was at this ball. The work was done by the Massachusetts-Decorating company of Lawrence and the furniture was supplied by Buckley & Sullivan, also of that city. The floral decorations were furnished by George D. Millett of this town. Light green, pink and white were the prevailing colors and they blended perfectly. Streamers, rosettes and flags were draped with taste about the walls or hung from the ceiling and pretty lace curtains were effectively used in the windows. From the walls to the center of the ceiling were hung the pretty pink and white streamers and between each of these was a thick rope of laurel leaves. From the center of the ceiling was suspended a large rosette consisting of twelve flags.

Above the stage and along the gallery, green, pink and white bunting was suspended in neat waves and folds and the colors were enlivened by strings of laurel. On the stage palms, ferns, rubber plants and hemlock boughs made a solid bank completely hiding the orchestra. A large electrical display of the order and the number composed of 146 frosted bulbs was suspended from the ceiling over the stage and this displayed the greenery perfectly.

Japanese screens were placed in three corners of the hall and in front of each was a palm, while on each side of the hall there were long mirrors partly hidden with palms. On either side was an easy chair.

The room usually used as a checking room was fitted up neatly as a parlor. On the floor was a large art square and in the center of the room a large parlor table was placed. The remaining furniture consisted of old fashioned chairs, and on the walls were hung many pictures.

The concert programme was as follows:

BASEBALL.

Alumni 5, Punchard 4.

In a hotly contested baseball game held on Patriots' Day the Alumni Association team defeated the Punchard team by a score of 5 to 4. The game was played in the morning and was attended by a large number of rooters. The school team put up a good game and gave the alumni a hard run for the victory, the latter only winning out by one run.

The Phillips Academy baseball team opened its season yesterday afternoon by defeating Bates by a score of 5 to 2. The team made a good showing for the first game and some very promising material was tried out. Only six innings were played as the visiting team had to leave to catch a train.

Tickets for the concert under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., to be given in the Town hall, May 4, by the Schubert Male Quartette of Boston, assisted by Miss Ethel M. Batting, reader, will be on sale at Higgins' bookstore, and also by the Y. M. C. A. members. The price of tickets is fifty cents and thirty-five cents.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

A public meeting under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A., was held in their rooms in the Muirgrove, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Heald of Lawrence, rendered several beautiful solos which were enjoyed by the large audience present.

A quartet consisting of George White, tenor; Charles Pearce, bass; Miss Florence West, soprano; and Miss Helen White, alto; also rendered several beautiful selections, with William Dick as accompanist.

Rev. C. C. Earle then addressed the meeting in his usual forceful and interesting manner.

Peabody as a Figurehead.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel to the international policy holders' committee, in a published letter to a London insurance man, says that Charles A. Peabody, who succeeded Richard A. McCurdy as president of the Mutual Life, is universally recognized as "the figurehead" of the Standard Oil group of financiers and that the Mutual Life management has no intention of pushing the suit against the McCurdys. Untermyer says that the game is simple if played alone, with no one to expose it, and is being played to determine to what extent "a body of the shrewdest men in the country," who are in a pretty deep hole of their own making, can humbug the public and lift themselves out by their own boot straps over the shoulders of the policyholders whom they have wronged. President Peabody came out with a fresh denial and charged Untermyer with representing Lawson.

Bank Open Twenty-four Hours a Day.
A bank is to be opened May 1 at Forty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, New York, to be known as the Night and Day bank, and, as its name implies, it will be open for business continually except from midnight Saturday until midnight Sunday. Prominent New York and Philadelphia capitalists are interested, and the capital is announced at $200,000, a surplus of $200,000 and a reserve of $100,000. Oakleigh Thorne is to be the president of this bank, and there will be three shifts of employees. The idea of the organizers is to consult the convenience of the public and especially of the out of town customers. It is believed that large deposits will be made at night because of many important transactions which close after ordinary banking hours; also there are a large number of restaurants, theaters and other evening business concerns which are expected to patronize the bank. So far as known this will be the only bank in the world open night and day.

Railroad Earnings Are Better.
Nearly all of the great trunk lines have reported increased gross earnings during the first three months of the year. Bank clearings have broken all records for any three months in the history of the country, according to Bradstreet's, and the number of failures were 2,791, or a decrease of 5 per cent as compared with the first quarter of last year.

Gold Coming; Stocks Up.
Coincident with the announcement of gold importations to the amount of $8,100,000 the rate of call money went down sharply and the price of stocks rose.

Mutual Life Sues Fields.
The Mutual Life Insurance company has brought suit against Andrew C. Fields, its legislative agent, to recover money said to have passed through his hands.

INDUSTRIAL

Twentieth Century Train Record.
The general office of the Lake Shore at Cleveland announced that the Twentieth Century Limited had made 108 miles in ninety-nine minutes between Cleveland and Toledo. This is thought to establish a new speed record for regular train service.

New Short Line to Mexico.
Railroad men are discussing with much interest the great project of the B. F. Youkum syndicate to establish a new through line from the great lakes to Mexico City, with branch lines into the northwest. This line is to reduce the traveling distance between Chicago and Mexico City more than 600 miles. The plan comes to light in the purchase of the Colorado and Southern by Youkum, and it is understood that the syndicate has both a construction and operating arrangement with the National Railroad of Mexico. The Rock Island and Frisco systems are involved in the new route, and the Denver and Galveston line is to be extended into the wheatfields of the northwest. All of the gulf ports will be tapped, and it is expected that the syndicate will come into control of the Rock Island system, in which case Youkum would control the largest group of railroads in the United States.

We Are Making More Hats.
A recent census bulletin shows that the number of felt hat establishments has increased from 171 to 216 since 1900, with an invested capital of $23,000,000. During 1905, 2,611,875 dozens of hats were manufactured.

LABOR

Chicago Shipping Tied Up.
Owing to the strike of the linesmen and firemen of the tugboats at Chicago for an increase from $60 to $65 per month and every other night and Sunday off not a steamer could be moved at that port after April 7 and grain transportation was at a standstill. The passenger boats were able to get in and out without the aid of the tugmen.

Miners' Concessions in Vain.
When the joint subcommittee of anthracite operators and miners reassembled at New York the operators formally rejected the arbitration offer of the workers and submitted a new plan,

The counter proposal was that they would be willing to submit to the old anthracite strike commission the question as to wages and as to adjustment of complaints, work to be resumed at once and the award to be effective from April 1, 1906, to March 31, 1909, with the object of avoiding a controversy on the eve of a presidential campaign.

In justification of their refusal of the miners' plan the operators said that it involved the submission of the question of union recognition and closed shop, which they did not submit to the strike commission two years ago.

The reply of the miners submitted by President Mitchell waives the whole question of union recognition by making the demands in the name of "the anthracite mine workers." Instead of the "United Mine Workers." The miners also modify their union assessment plan. With these modifications the miners were willing to submit to the investigation of the anthracite coal strike commission of 1902, pending which they will return to work. President Baer replied that the operators could not modify their proposition, and the conference adjourned subject to call.

Strike Ends at Pittsburgh.
The strike of the soft coal miners of the Pittsburgh district came to an end with the signing of the scale for 5 per cent increase by Frank L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company. Every mine in the district but one was under operation and 30,000 men were back at work at the highest scale they have ever enjoyed.

SCIENTIFIC

Water Improves Coal.
A year and a half ago the British authorities at Portsmouth sunk two tons of coal in iron casks in a basin of water at the dock yards. At the same time a similar quantity of coal was stored in the open air and covered with tarpaulins. At intervals of six months samples of each storage have been burned under scientific tests, and the results show conclusively that the submarine storage adds to its value steadily, while storage in the open air decreases its heat giving power. Experiments are now to be made to test the practicability of marine storage on a large scale. The main difficulty is that the coal must be dried before it is used to avoid spontaneous combustion from superficial moisture.

American Wins Aeroplane Prize.
Calvin T. Fried of Allentown, Pa., has recently made such satisfactory tests of his aeroplane before Captain Fordyce and Lieutenant Daignon of the French war department that the French prize of 150,000 francs for a successful flying machine has been awarded to him. Before going to France Mr. Fried will build two large aeroplanes, and if these prove satisfactory he will get the French grand prize of 300,000 francs and be engaged as the flying machine expert of the French army.

Surgery Cures Incurable.
Harold Hurley, a twelve-year-old boy of Toledo, O., who had been sentenced to a reformatory for incorrigibility, is said to have shown a complete transformation of character following a surgical operation which removed pressure upon the brain caused by a swelling of the bone after a fall when he was five years old.

Secret of Edison's Battery.
The news that representatives of Thomas A. Edison had recently purchased a mine of cobalt ore on the Montreal river, near Halleyburg, Canada, and was offering $70 a ton on a 10 per cent quality of this ore delivered in New York has tended to confirm the report that cobalt is the key to Edison's new electric storage battery. Cobalt is somewhat similar to nickel and has been used for producing the blue tint in certain porcelains. It is still not known in what way Edison has employed this metal.

Carnegie Teachers' Fund Rules.
Under the recent federal act of incorporation the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teachers was reorganized by trustees at New York. Since last fall the claims of various colleges have been investigated. To be ranked as a college an institution must have at least six teachers and a full four year course in arts and sciences. The exclusion of sectarian institutions will bar many large colleges. Any professor sixty-five years old who has had not less than fifteen years' service will receive an allowance of $1,000 if his salary is $1,600, and $50 more for each $100 additional active pay up. The awarding of allowances will begin in June. Two hundred applications have already been made. The annual income is $500,000.

Free Text Book Local Option.
Connecticut has authorized the local option system as to the furnishing of free text books, as the general election showed seventy-three townships to be in favor of free books and forty-four against them.

Against Modern Language Teaching.
Two Salt Lake City judges have decided against the teaching of modern languages in the grade schools on the ground that more than 90 per cent of the pupils will never enter college or seek a university degree and also that the interest of the few must yield to the needs of the many.

Great Stadium For Columbia.
A committee of the alumni of Columbia university, headed by William Barclay Parsons, has perfected plans for a $1,000,000 stadium or athletic arena, for the use of Columbia university and the New York Public Schools Athletic league on ground which is to be reclaimed from the Hudson river. When completed it will extend from One Hundred and Sixteenth street to One Hundred and Twentieth street out to the pier line. On this ground three distinct fields will be erected, one for the university in the center and two on either side for the schoolboys. Stands will be erected on three sides to seat 35,000 people, but on the water side an artistic gate has been designed, with locker rooms for athletic teams and crews.

RELIGIOUS

Mormons Put Out Polygamists.

It is announced from the presidential pulpit of the Mormon church at Salt Lake City that Apostles Crowley and Taylor had "resigned," but it was admitted that a majority of the church leaders had forced these two out of the fold because they had taken plural wives since the manifesto forbidding that practice.

Methodists For Free Labor.
The Methodist conference at New York has been considerably stirred up over the charges made by the striking printers to the effect that the management of the Methodist Book Concern had whiskey and other questionable advertisements set up for use in newspapers. A motion for an investigation was made, and the matter was referred to the eastern book committee.

At a later session the conference, following the lead of Bishop McCabe, unanimously adopted resolutions expressing sympathy with organized labor's aims in spite of the selfish and tyrannical spirit of both capital and labor, but protesting against all interference with "the right which every man has to work when, where and for whom he pleases."

Dowie's Legal Fight Begun.

Broken in health, but still full of wrath and breathing curses on his enemies, calling them "usurpers," "liars," "dogs," etc., the dethroned first apostle of the Christian Catholic Church in Zion, John Alexander Dowie, hastened from his "paradise" colony in Mexico back to Chicago last week, but hesitated to proceed at once to "face the music" at Zion City. The residents of the latter place remained almost solid in support of the acting overseer, Wilbur Glenn Voliva, who had led in the deposition of Dowie. Among them stood Dowie's wife and son, openly charging him with having had improper relations with the Swiss helress, Ruth Hofer, and other women.

Lawyers advised Dowie to compromise by agreeing on his successor and willing his property to the church, but he ordered that legal action be begun to regain possession of all as his right. It was said that Voliva expected to have Dowie arrested.

MISCELLANEOUS

Terrible Vesuvius Outbreak.

Following a long series of earthquakes in southern Italy and preliminary activities of the great volcano of Mount Vesuvius, near Naples, an eruption of the volcano unequalled since that of 1822 began April 9 and reached its climax with the explosion of the entire cone April 9, since which it has gradually subsided. The villages and farms immediately adjacent to the mountain on all sides suffered from falling ashes and streams of molten lava, and more than 150,000 refugees crowded into Naples, nine miles away, which city itself narrowly escaped serious disaster from ash showers. As it was the ashes covered the streets and roofs to a depth of a foot or more. In the midst of the eruption the weight of ashes caused the roof of the Mount Oliveto market to give way, resulting in the burial of 400 people, many of whom were killed and many seriously injured. In some of the villages people were smothered or crushed in their houses owing to the suddenness of the fall of ashes, and the work of rescue was delayed by the choking atmosphere and the proximity of burning lava streams. The king and queen of Italy went to Naples to personally superintend the relief of the survivors, for whom a great sum of money was promptly subscribed, including contributions from all parts of the world. It is estimated that in all over 5,000 houses have been destroyed.

Scientists say that this eruption of Vesuvius exceeded in violence that of 1872 and that the height of the cone has diminished at least 600 feet. A portion of the funicular railway was destroyed, and the Royal observatory, on a nearby eminence, was in the greatest danger for two days and nights. The stream of lava which invaded the town of Boscorene was from 30 to 35 feet in height and from 150 to 450 feet in width.

Rockefeller Ends Exile.
After having remained in guarded seclusion at his Lakewood (N. J.) place since Dec. 16, when the Hadley subpoena servers were sent out, John D. Rockefeller returned to New York to see his new grandson, John D. Rockefeller 3d.

Deaths.
Nathaniel S. Shaler, geologist and dean of the Lawrence Scientific school at Harvard, died at his home in Cambridge on April 9.
James A. Bailey, chief owner of Barnum & Bailey's circus, died at his Mount Vernon (N. Y.) home on April 11.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER
THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private life to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

THREE COURTS AT SALEM

Three courts were in session in Salem Monday, a session of the supreme court, Justice Hammond presiding; a jury session of the superior court, Judge Fox presiding, and a jury waived session, Chief Justice Alken presiding.

In the supreme court, Clerk George officiated at the desk and Sheriff Johnson preserved order. Prayer was offered here by Rev. Milton F. Negus of the Central Baptist church and the jurors were called.

The list of cases was called to see what was ready for trial.

The Chase will case is not on the list for trial and is not expected to be placed there this spring. Just what will come of this case no one knows just now.

Of the 32 jurors on the panel nine have names beginning with B, almost one-third of them.

Mr. Crowley asked to have issues framed for a jury trial in the case of the appeal from the decree of the probate court setting up the will of Maria Wilkinson of Danvers. He claimed that the estate was valued at more than $2000. A. P. White, for the will, thought the estate worth less than that sum. The bulk of it was left to erect a monument to herself and family.

Justice Hammond overruled the motion for a jury trial and will hear it himself.

In the jury session Judge Fox gave the jurors general instructions in jury duty in order that he might not have to do this every time a case is tried. Deputy Sheriff Tierney is in charge of the good order of this court and George R. Lord is acting as clerk.

The jury waived session is being held in the room of the county commissioners which is a great improvement over the grand jury room heretofore used. Assistant Clerk Hale acts as clerk here, and Deputy Sheriff Bishop is keeping order.

Of maid of honor and the six bridesmaids, and these colors predominating in the floral decorations at the church and at the residence of the bride's parents on Arlington sq., where the reception was held.

The ushers were Winfred Taylor, Lawrence; Albion Felce, Methuen; Edward S. Baker, Dedham; George E. Dalrymple, this city; Lieut. Arthur W. Copp, Madison barracks, New York, and Ralph O. Ingram, Lowell. The bridesmaids were Miss Edith Laura Fries of this city, Miss Katherine E. McCoy, Kane, Penn., Miss Florence Ebersole and Edith M. Ebersole of Cincinnati, and Miss Bessie M. Pinkham and Miss Marjorie Pinkham, sisters of the bride. Miss Clarissa D. Hammond Lyons, N. Y., was maid of honor. The best man was David Y. Swaty of Pittsburg. Rev. James S. Williamson officiated.

CHANCE FOR A PROFIT.

From the Youth's Companion.

The artistic temperament often leads toward poverty but it frequently compensates its victim with a saving grace of humor which makes even the poverty a source of fun.

A young woman who was possessed of the temperament and had given up everything else for it suddenly sold a picture for a considerable sum, and made haste to apply the proceeds as a first payment on a small cottage she had long desired. The former owner attempted to advise her about the neighbors.

"Now that couple next door," he said warningly, "they're all right—good neighbors, friendly and all that. But keep your eyes open. If they see a chance to make a hundred dollars out of you they won't hesitate to do it."

"Fine! Fine!" cried the young woman. "I'm going over now and see if I can't get them to do it on shares."

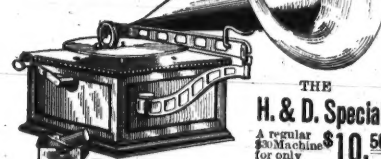

If you want a spring dress before the cream is gone, we will save it for you, by leaving a small deposit if not prepared to buy now. Farr's Remnant store, 38 Appleton street.

ON BEACON HILL

BOSTON, April 18—Senator Casidy of Berkshire won in the senate yesterday afternoon on the bill relative to fire departments and the civil service by Senator Stevens of Middlesex, chairman of the public service committee, but the bill was ordered to a third reading, 21 to 1.

On July 1, 1905, the commissioners applied. Senator Cassidy contended "arbitrarily" the civil service rules to the fire departments of the cities of Worcester, Haverhill, Lawrence, Fitchburg, Everett, Springfield, Chicopee, Northampton and one or two others.

Before that time, the senator said, it was optional with voters of such cities whether they should go under civil service or not. The bill before the senate took those cities out of civil service again and left it to the voters to decide whether to go under or not.

"I believe in home rule," said Senator Cassidy. "I also believe in civil service. Like electricity, civil service is a good thing—but it can be carried too far. I do not believe that every fence-viewer, every vinegar and cider tester should be under civil service. I think it is time to call a halt."

Senator Stevens of Middlesex protested against the passage of the legislation and said that at the outset the scheme was to take every fire department of the state out of civil service. As far as the cities covered by the proposed legislation were concerned, he said they should give civil service a fair trial before asking to be exempted.

On a rising vote, the measure was ordered to a third reading. Senator Stevens alone voting "No."

With only a perfecting amendment recommended by the committee on bills in third reading the Logan anti-bucket shop bill was passed to enactment without division or debate.

On motion of Senator Logan the rules were suspended in order that the bill might go immediately to the lower branch.

After some discussion the bill relative to assignment of wages was ordered to a third reading. In defense of the measure Senator Clark, chairman of judiciary, attacked the methods of which he had been indulged in by some Boston business houses. Senator Taylor of Suffolk insisted that Senator Clark had not described those methods fairly and that he had unwarrantably assailed prominent business men simply to get the bill through.

Senator Chapple of Essex offered an amendment to make the assignment of wages unless recorded in the office of the city clerk. This amendment was opposed by Senator Harding of the cape. The amendment was rejected and the bill then ordered to a third reading.

The committee on ways and means reported against the resolve to authorize the county of Middlesex to pay a sum of money to Oliver W. Carter.

On the bill to provide for the registration of carriers of intoxicating liquors to or in cities and towns which do not grant licenses of the first five classes, the amendment of Senator

Bullock, providing that all applicants shall be granted licenses, was rejected by a rising vote of 15 to 17. The Chase amendment to include street railways in the bill was adopted, 17 to 14. Senator Schofield opposed the bill, and it defended by Senators Stevens and Mellen.

By a rising vote of 24 to 6 the bill was ordered to a third reading.

The petition of Senator Mellen for legislation to authorize the city of Boston to pay a sum of money to the mother of William E. Magurn, late a member of the common council of the city of Boston, was admitted by the committee on rules and referred to the committee on cities.

The "public opinion" bill was put over till Friday next.

IN THE HOUSE.

In spite of the fact that a large number of the members of the house left the legislative halls early yesterday afternoon to take in the first game at the Huntington-av grounds, the house sat until almost the usual time of adjournment and made good progress.

There was some doubt whether or not a quorum could be secured at the opening of the afternoon session, but the members of the lobby were guided into the chamber by the sergeant-at-arms and his assistants, and the doors were closed. Later the speaker relented, and the doors were opened, and many of the members took advantage of the opportunity to get away for the afternoon.

During a large part of the afternoon session the house discussed the matter of the retention by the state of the corporation tax collected from steam railroads, which now goes to the places where the shareholders live.

Mr. Dean of Wakefield had moved before the recess the substitution of the bill for the adverse report of the committee on taxation, and he was supported by Mr. Luce of Somerville in his argument that the state should take the taxes. Mr. Luce said that the retention of this tax would probably mean $1,000,000 additional revenue to the state.

Mr. Davenport of Malden opposed the motion. He said personal property is supposed to be taxed where the owners live, and certificates of stock are personal property.

The motion to substitute the bill for the committee's adverse report was defeated by a rising vote of 48 to 65. A roll call was refused.

The bill giving the commissioners of fisheries and game and their deputies the authority to inspect persons suspected of carrying fish or game illegally taken, and that refusal to allow such inspection shall be deemed prima facie evidence that the person has been engaged in illegal hunting or fishing, was rejected.

Before the house adjourned for the day Representative Luce of Somerville gave notice that he would move to substitute for the present screen law bill the following:

"The board which grants the licenses may require a licensee to close permanently all entrances to the licensed premises except those from the public street or streets upon which said premises are located and may so specify in the license. In such case the construction or opening of any such entrance shall of itself make the license void."

A licensee holding a license of the first three classes shall not place or maintain or permit to be placed or maintained in any public room used by him for the sale of spirituous or intoxicating liquors under the provisions of his license, any screen, blind, shutter, curtain, partition, or painted, ground or stained glass window, or any other obstruction, nor expose in any window of said room any bottle, cask or other vessel containing, or purporting to contain, intoxicating liquor, in such a way as to interfere with a view of the business conducted on the premises, and the placing or maintaining of any of said obstructions shall of itself make the license void, except that the board at their discretion may, upon application of a licensed innholder who also holds a license to sell intoxicating liquors, permit screens, curtains, or such other obstructions as they may designate to be placed at the windows of the dining room of the hotel maintained by said innholder, and said board shall have the power to revoke such privilege. This act shall take effect upon its passage."

At the morning session Mr. Mellen of Worcester moved a reconsideration of the acceptance of the adverse report of the committee on public service on the bill introduced on petition of John J. Moran giving the district attorney of Suffolk county authority to make his own selections from the Boston police force for work in connection with the district attorney's office. The motion to reconsider was postponed until today after Mr. Mellen had made a brief reference to Dist. Atty. Moran.

Two important bills relative to automobiles were reported by the committee on roads and bridges. The first was leave to withdraw on the petition and bill to provide that all fines for violation of the speed limit laws should be returned to the state treasury instead of to city and town treasurers. Representative Porter of Amesbury dissents. The other bill is to authorize the Massachusetts highway commission to make rules and regulations concerning the use and operation of automobiles and motor cycles. This bill reads as follows:

"Section 1—The Massachusetts highway commission may from time to time prepare rules and regulations governing the use and operation of automobiles and motor cycles. Said rules and regulations shall be in addition to any rules and regulations already written in the certificates and licenses issued by said commission under authority of chapter 473 of the acts of 1903 and acts in amendment thereof. Said commission may from time to time after, rescind, amend or add to any rules and regulations previously made by it. Such rules and regulations and any changes therein shall take effect only when approved by the governor and council."

Section 2—Said commission shall publish the rules and regulations made and approved under authority of this act in at least two newspapers printed and published in each county of the state, and such publication shall be sufficient notice to all persons. The sworn certificate of any member of said commission or its secretary that said rules and regulations have been published as herein provided shall be prima facie evidence thereof. A copy of said rules and regulations attested by any member of said commission or by its secretary shall be prima facie evidence that said rules and regulations have been made by said commission and approved by the governor and council as provided by law.

"Section 3—Any person convicted of operating an automobile or motor cycle in violation of any rule or regulation made under authority of this act may be punished by a fine not exceeding $25 for a first offence, not exceeding $50 for a second offence and not exceeding $100 for subsequent offences."

"Section 4—This act shall be construed as giving to the Massachusetts highway commission the power to regulate the speeds at which motor vehicles may be operated on the public ways or to affect the power, as now provided by law, of the metropolitan park commission to make rules and regulations governing the use of automobiles and motor cycles in lanes, roadways and parkways in their care and control."

The committee on ways and means reported ought to pass the bill to provide for the extension of the south metropolitan sewer through the districts of West Roxbury, Brookline and Brighton.

EASTER SERVICES.

At the local churches Sunday services appropriate to Easter were held. The churches were pretty, some of them elaborately decorated with flowers. In spite of the disagreeable weather, the churches were well filled.

At the Baptist church the Sunday school concert was given in the morning, the program, as already printed in the Telegram, being carried out very nicely. In the evening a cantata, "The New Life" by Rogers, was rendered. At the close of the service the ordinance of Baptism was administered to three candidates.

The services at the Gleason Memorial church were carried out in accordance with the program already printed, as were also the services at the services at the Second P. M. church. The original papers read at the evening service at the latter church by members of the Young People's society were exceptionally good.

No services were held at the Methodist church, owing to the fact of the N. H. conference being in session. The Sunday school concert will be given next Sunday.

At the Congregational church special music was rendered in the morning, the choir selections being:

Anthem, "Awake, Thou that Sleepest," Manney
Violin, "Andante Religioso," Thome
Violin, "Abeudled," Nachez
"The Easter Hope" was the subject of the sermon, by the pastor.

In the evening a choral service was held at 7.30 o'clock, and the following program was rendered:

STATE HIGHWAY TO BE COMPLETED.

The Haverhill Gazette has the following in regard to the state highway which runs through Methuen between Lawrence and Haverhill:

"The state highway commission evidently intends to complete the unfinished stretch of the state highway between this city and Lawrence this season, as this morning the mayor received a letter from the commission, asking the city council to secure release from the property owners along the Lawrence road. The commission last year appropriated $8500 for the construction of the macadam road from River street extension to Hawks brook, but when it was found that the bridge over the brook would have to be rebuilt it was decided to defer the work until this year. It is estimated that the job of rebuilding the bridge and completing the stretch of macadam will cost about $16,000, and this year the commission was asked to fulfill its promise to appropriate the balance of this sum, as the money allotted last year was available. No allotment has, however, as yet been made, but with the steps taken by the commission to secure release from the property owners it is generally thought that the commission intends to appropriate sufficient money to finish the work this year, and thus furnish a through state highway from this city to Lawrence."

FUNERAL OF MRS. WHITNEY.

Funeral services for the late Mary E., beloved wife of Mr. Whitney, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home, 109 Pleasant street, and were attended by a very large number of friends, not only from Methuen, but from other places. The members of the Methuen Grange, P. of H., attended the services in a body. Guests were present from Lawrence, Lynn, Boston, Malden, Melrose, Groveland, West Newbury, Goshen, N. VETS GRAND CONCERT AND BALL

One of the most successful affairs ever conducted by the "Red Jack-ets" was their annual concert and ball which took place last night in the Merrimack hall. Not long ago Gov. Folk of Missouri upon reaching his office at the Capitol in company with a friend, found a number of men waiting in the ante-room. He paused as he passed through and made a joke that was a decided chestnut.

When the governor and his friend were in the private office the friend remarked:

"Say, that was a fearfully old one you got off just now."

"I know it," was the complacent reply.

"Then why did you do it?" the puzzled friend asked.

"Did you notice which of those fellows laughed? Well, they are the ones who have favors to ask," was the reply.

A kindergarten teacher tells the following story of a recent experience that she had with one of her little tots. The rules require when a child reports illness in the family, that the teacher shall find out whether such illness is contagious or not, and it is customary to send the child home for a statement of facts. The other morning one of the younger boys reported that "his mamma was sick." He was sent home to find out the nature of the illness, and soon returned with the information.

"Mamma says it ain't catching."

"The won't do," replied the teacher. "You must go home and find out and then come and tell me just what is the matter with your mamma."

Pretty soon the boy came toddling back into the room. "Teacher," said he, "mamma says it's all right. She says it's a boy, and it ain't catching."
